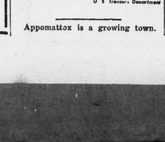
Uncle Sam Says



We're getting into the frosty season, when the birds migrate, the furry animals hibernate and all nature is preparing for a wintry siege. Which reminds us, why shouldn't we, too, prepare for the future? The long-range future, the wintry years of our lives. How better to do this than by investing part of our earnings in U. S. Defense Bonds? Everyone should buy bonds either under the Payroll Savings Plan where he works, or the Bond-A-Month Plan where he banks.

Records Show Yule Customs Were Old In Fourth Century

The exact age of the Christmas festival is not known. Records show, however, that the holiday was spoken of in the fourth century as a custom of long standing.
Christmas began as Christ's Mass, or the Mass of Christ, sometime during the fourth century. It is from that long after the blessed night for the great importance of Christ's birth to be realized by the people. Until this time it had been the custom of the church to celebrate the anniversaries of deaths, rather than births. Christ's birthday was the first to be made an occasion for feasting.
The date for the celebration of the Christ Mass was selected by the church. So many years had elapsed that the actual date of His birth could only be a matter of conjecture.
The festival and spirit of Christmas spread through the Christian worlds. Pagan customs, even as they do today, attempted to adapt themselves to the Christmas season.
For many years after the origin of Christ's Mass the church frowned upon the practice of exchanging gifts during the festival season. Later, however, the practice was condoned, in remembrance of the spirit of the Three Kings of the Orient who had followed a shining star to the crib of the new-born Christ, bringing presents with a sense of humility.

Christmas Greens Brighten Home

A few well placed Christmas greens can do much to brighten a house at Christmas time. Properly clipped, the branches will never be missed, and might improve the looks of the tree from which they are cut.
Hemlock, red cedar, Juniper, yew, pitch pine, white pine, will make suitable material for a spray to decorate a mantle, door, or a spray for a newel post.

In pruning, however, keep in mind the natural appearance of the tree from which you clip branches.

St. Nick's Spirit
It is thought that St. Nicholas died in about 326 A.D. and for 30 days following his festival day his genial spirit roamed the earth, filling the hearts of mankind with love and generosity. He gave the gifts without thought of returning the true spirit of St. Nicholas and Christmas.

Va. Gaining As Travel Destination

Richmond, Dec. 12.- Virginia is one of the most popular destinations for travelers throughout the nation, the State Travel Commission on Community Development here points out in a recent national travel survey conducted by American Automobile Association as a basis for the statistics on travel in Virginia. The Old Dominion's share in this study is listed as follows: Of the 29,000,000 motorists passing New York on a trip for travel for the first half of 1951, an increase greater than 10 per cent over the same period last year over the Virginia line is given by the AAA survey as 3,000,000 which, the Commission points out, is an increase greater than 10 per cent. The total number of visitors to the state excepting three.
Since the survey was made the State Highway Commission has estimated that motor traffic and passenger cars licensed in other states has increased 15 per cent, as has been the case with a 10 per cent of this is due to normal increase personal based in Virginia, the State Commission credits Virginia's tourist trade with a 10 per cent net increase.
The Commission has also announced the results of a survey conducted by the State Health Department, based on inspections, which shows that restaurants in Virginia during 1951 has added 2 per cent to her accomodations as restaurant facilities despite restrictions. To meet the increased popularity of Virginia, hotels have added 2 per cent, motor courts 3 per cent, and guest homes 1 per cent to their accommodations, bringing the number of rooms available in Virginia to 31,251. These facilities and improvements represent an investment for the state of more than $15,000,000. Many of these improvements and additions were in areas surrounding the Shenandoah National Park, Williamsburg, Virginia Beach, and other tourist attractions of the Old Dominion. Included is a fine new addition to the Cavalier Hotel at Virginia Beach, and a new wing that is now in completion at the State University of Virginia. The Virginia Beach Council at Richmond estimates that $40,000,000 in new facilities are now contemplated or in the process of construction and that most of this development, if present restrictions permit, will be completed during the coming year.
Virginia, the Conservation Commission reported, is well on the way to becoming not only the most popular travel destination in the nation, but to rivaling any state in facilities and accomodations.

Future Highway Needs in Va. Are Listed in State Survey

Richmond, Va., Dec. 20.- Virginia faces an annual construction maintenance program ranging from $14,500,000 to $25,000,000 for the next 10 years to overcome widespread deficiencies on 2,475 miles of the state's busiest rural highways.
Extensions of these rural roads through cities, totaling 223 miles, would require additional expenditures of from $6,800,000 to $9,500,000 annually.
These findings are contained in an engineering appraisal which was recently completed in Virginia to help determine minimum requirements essential to sustain highway transportation at reasonable levels of efficiency and safety during the national defense period.
The study was made by the Automotive Safety Foundation, of Washington, and was financed jointly by the Virginia Department of Highways and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.
The report was presented to General James A. Anderson, Highway Department Commissioner, in a formal ceremony this morning (Thursday, Dec. 20) by Col. Carl E. Fritts, vice-president-in-charge of Engineering of the Automotive Safety Foundation.
The higher cost estimate is for a "normal" program, which the report recommends should be carried out wherever feasible. The lower figures are for the minimum program which would have to be carried out during a period of man, power, materials and equipment shortages.
While the study covered only 2,700 miles of highways and their urban extensions of the state's 51,000-mile system those studies routes carry half of all rural traffic. Although needs, developed in the study are limited to key routes, they are considered indicative of the scope of Virginia's overall road street problem.
The engineering analysis discovered that the backlog of needs, largely attributable to World War II and to rapid increases in traffic, embrace 800 of the 2,475 miles. It was found that 746 miles would become deficient during the next 10 years, and that the balance of 929 miles would remain tolerable for that period.
The report shows that most of the arterial streets studied now are carrying traffic so far beyond practical capacity that extensive physical improvements are needed.
In making the study, the Efficiency Rating method was used mile by mile to gauge structural condition, ability to handle traffic, and safety elements. These ratings, indicating relative need, were used as a tool in determining relative adequacy.
Detailed needs were determined by use of "tolerable standards" which were developed to set minimum conditions under which transportation service can be maintained. Each route was studied in detail, to measure its adequacy, to find economically justified improvements which normally would be made, and finally to indicate a minimum program necessary to sustain transportation during the emergency period, assumed by the engineers to be 10 years.
The report places emphasis on the difficult decisions which must be made by highway administrators during emergency conditions. The minimum rural emergency program suggested by the study engineers is about 60 per cent of the normal program. The minimum program suggested for urban extensions is about 70 per cent of the normal.

Three Awards Presented at Team Banquet

Three members of this year's winning A. H. S. football team were awarded trophies at the annual football banquet of the Lions Club last Thursday night. There were 100 present at the affair, held at the school cafeteria.
On behalf of the Lions Club, Congressman W. M. Abbitt presented a trophy as best lineman to Billy Jamerson, co-captain and tackle. A second trophy was presented by the Blue Hornet coach, Gordon Bragg, to Bobby Chernanuit, co-captain, and named the season's best blocker. Calvin Robinson, who served as master of ceremonies, presented the Times-Virginian football trophy to Ed Cawthorne, as the best player on offense and backfield star.
Speakers at the banquet included Coach Bragg, Congressman Abbitt, Assistant Coach Ralph Floyd, of the College of William and Mary; Assistant Coach Richard Holway, of V. P. I., and W. C. Dudley.
Coach Bragg presented his squad of thirty players. Visitors included Vince Luccardi, former coach at A. H. S.

Two Taking Tractor Course

Lewis Edward Moore and Carey Moore, Appomattox Senior 4-H Club members, were among the 63 older 4-H members and leaders from Virginia who attended the State Tractor Maintenance Clinic at V. P. I. last week, December 10, 11 and 12.
At this annual 3-day clinic, club members get first-hand information on what it takes to keep tractors operating safely and efficiently. Lewis and Carey, like the other members who attended the clinic, will now serve as project leaders in training other club members in tractor maintenance.
The clinic was sponsored by the Virginia Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with an oil company and various farm machinery companies.
Among the instructors in classroom and shop work were Leon M. McNeair, National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club work, Chicago; C. S. Sobeck; and V. P. I. staff members and representatives of several farm machinery companies.

TWO UNEXPECTED HOLIDAYS AT PAMPLIN
The Pamplin High School got an unexpected two-day holiday this week. Boiler trouble Monday put the furnace out of commission, and with no heat available, school closed. On Tuesday the sleet storm prevented school buses from running, and with no pupils on hand, a second holiday in a row was ordered.

Deadline For PMA Reports

Appomattox County farmers, expecting to receive payments for practices carried out under the 1951 Agricultural Conservation Program, and who have not yet reported what they did, had better get busy immediately. Such was the warning issued this week by John T. Hunter, chairman of the County PMA Committee, who stated that Tuesday, January 15, 1952, is the last day on which farmers may file 1951 ACP performance reports with the PMA County Office.
"There's only a short time left," Mr. Hunter said, "and to day the county office has on file 1951 performance reports from only 320 farmers whereas we are expecting a total of 600 reports to be filed. Unless these outstanding reports are made right away, I am afraid some of our farmers will be a long time getting their checks." He pointed out that farmers who delay until the last minute to report, also delay the County Office in preparing applications for payment. These applications must be processed by the State PMA Office and the Treasury Department before checks can be issued and the Treasury Department will soon be very busy with the 1951 income tax funds.
At the same time 1951 ACP performance is reported, Mr. Hunter said farmers also may sign farm worksheets to designate the practices they intend to carry out under the 1952 Agricultural Conservation program.

Basketball

Winter weather was roughing up the basketball schedule of the Appomattox High School. It was also causing the teams to lose out on practice sessions. This has not been the ideal week for outdoor basketball practice.
Games at the Brookville High School scheduled for last Friday night, had to be postponed, due to snow. A pair of games with Naruna met the same fate Tuesday night. New London is scheduled for tonight at the Concord gym.

King Winter Took Over This Week

King Winter took over in Appomattox this week, and most of the Old Dominion was experiencing one of the most severe spells of winter weather in several years. A touch of snow last Friday started off the outbreak of winter. But the full force struck Monday night and Tuesday, when sleet tied traffic and business activity into snarls over the state.
Reports from Richmond Tuesday morning indicated that the capital city was nearly paralyzed by sleet, with city buses unable to operate and most business places closed.
Traffic in Lynchburg w as at a standstill. Many schools were unable to open Tuesday.
The State Highway Department was on the job and got the situation into hand on major routes. Service stations and garages in most cases sold out of chains for cars, and the attendants had a rough day cleaning ice off windshields.
The winter weather served to put everyone into the mood for a real Christmas observance.
Schools will close Friday, for the annual Christmas holiday.
